

Call for papers for the next issue of CoAst

The next regular issue of Communications in Asteroseismology will be published at the beginning of 2008. The deadline will be Friday, 2008 January 18.

Communications in Asteroseismology, CoAst, is a refereed journal, commissioned by the Austrian Academy of Sciences. CoAst is distributed in a printed form. Since 2007 it can also be retrieved online via ADS. This journal is open to all active astronomers in the field of asteroseismology. For further information, please check the journal's homepage: <http://www.univie.ac.at/tops/CoAst/>

Papers should be written in \LaTeX with template. Figures should preferably be in postscript or Jpeg. For the references, we ask you to use the format of A&A. You can download a zipped package of the style files and the template from the following address. Please use the original file CoAst_template.tex as a template for your contribution and do not adapt it.

http://www.univie.ac.at/tops/CoAst/archive/CoAst_styles.zip.

If you intend to publish in the next issue (which we hope), please send a short message to the editor. This will, of course, not obligate you in any way. The complete paper (files and figures) as well as a ps or pdf version of the paper should be sent to both the publisher paul.beck@univie.ac.at and the editor michel.breger@univie.ac.at. In case you did not receive the call for the recent volume and wish to receive future calls, please contact the publisher.

Best regards from Vienna,
Michel Breger and Paul Beck

