

71 (p. 192)

The Gyü-par Valley looking upstream, northern slopes of the Gyü-par Range, elevation 18600 feet. Picea asperata forest in background, the shrubs are willows, honeysuckles, Hippophae, Ribes, etc.

72 (p. 192)

The Gyü-par Valley, northern slopes of the Gyü-par Range, looking upstream at an elevation of 10200 feet. Picea asperata on the steep slopes, willows in the streambed. A landslide exposes loess deposits with schist and shale embedded in the fine loess.