

Contributors

Josef Kohlbacher, born 1958 in Lilienfeld (Austria), graduated in cultural anthropology, sociology and history at the University of Vienna; since 1988 researcher at the Institute of Urban and Regional Research of the Austrian Academy of Sciences; major research interests: housing market integration of immigrants, interethnic relations in the spatial micro-context of neighbourhoods, migrant entrepreneurship.

Ursula Reeger, is researcher at the Institute for Urban and Regional Research of the Austrian Academy of Sciences since 1989. She graduated in Geography in the same year. Her general research interests include: international migration, integration and the housing market, interethnic relations, xenophobia and migrant entrepreneurship. She has published on these subjects in a range of academic journals and books.

Philipp Schnell, is researcher at the Institute for Urban and Regional Research of the Austrian Academy of Sciences since 2010. He is further a PhD candidate at the Amsterdam Institute for Social Science Research. His research interests include: Social and ethnic inequality, social mobility, second generation immigrants in Europe and interethnic relations in urban contexts.