

CONTENTS – INHALT

Herbert Bannert and Nicole Kröll

Introduction – Einleitung	7
---------------------------------	---

Part One: Myth and Religion

David Hernández de la Fuente

A Dionysian μετάνοια? The ‘Good’ Indians as ‘Secret Converts’ in Nonnus’ Dionysiaca	27
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Delphine Lauritzen

Two Hymns for One Poem. Beyond ‘Pagan vs Christian’ in John of Gaza’s Ekphrasis	45
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Frederick Lauritzen

Late Antique Philosophy and the Poetry of George of Pisidia	59
-------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Domenico Accorinti

Pagan and Christian Astral Imagery in Late Antique Poetry	69
-----------------------------------------------------------------	----

Part Two: Tradition and Narrative

Jan R. Stenger

‘Beim Häuten der Zwiebel’. Gregory of Nazianzus’ De vita sua as Autofiction	93
---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Ursula Gärtner

Ekphrastisches Erzählen bei Quintus Smyrnaeus. Zur Bedeutung von Einzelszenen, Visualisierung und Fokalisierung in den Posthomerica	113
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

Arianna Magnolo

The Alexandra in the Dionysiaca . Two Examples	133
--------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

Nicole Kröll

Reshaping Iliad and Odyssey . The Cyclopes in Nonnus’ Dionysiaca	149
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

Mary Whitby
To See or Not to See? Nonnus' Elephant Deconstructed (Dionysiaca 26.295–338)	165
Marcelina Gilka
Like Mother, Like Daughter? Hermione in Colluthus' Abduction of Helen	187
Andreas Rhoby
Inschriftliche griechische Epigramme in frühbyzantinischer Zeit (4.–6. Jh.). Eine Fallstudie zur Evidenz auf den Inseln des östlichen Mittelmeers	211
Index of Passages	231
General Index	234